

ERGESIS “People and Resources” serves as consultant, coach, mediator, and trainer of choice to the boards, directors, and managers of large, medium and small national and multinational companies and to individuals, working with them to increase their capacity and ability to create and manage change—the business of “change management.”

Guy Catel founded ERGESIS “People and Resources” in 2005 and is its CEO.

Guy is a former merchant marine officer, and was the European director of three American companies--WR Grace and Co, PPG Inc., DA Stuart—and is a proven leader and problem solver. He speaks fluent English, Spanish and German.

Working in the strictest confidence, Guy and Ergesis assemble a coordinated network of experts tailored to each client’s goals and needs. Through hard work, creativity and attention to detail, they have built a proven reputation for teamwork and success.

Ergesis is ideally based in Neuilly sur Seine, just outside Paris, and in La Defense, the Paris business district, and from there can meet your needs wherever they arise.

If you have a project, a team, or people to develop, and

If you want to progress,

Let’s talk
